

Calling All East Brook Community Members

Be A Career Day Presenter!

Email Tara Nelsen-DeFalco by December 9

The PTO will again be hosting Career Day this year at East Brook on February 7. This day is an excellent opportunity for students to explore different areas of employment through a variety of displays, demonstrations, brief presentations and hands on activities. It is also an excellent opportunity for YOU to be involved in your child's/children's education.

In order to pursue the coordination of such an event, the PTO will need to secure participants.

Participating in an event like this will be a memorable experience for yourself and your child/children. You do not need to be currently working in the career you present. It may be a previous career, current, or one that the participant has retired from. Participation is not only limited to parents, but extended to family and friends.

We are looking for parents to participate, as well as, use connections/relationships you have with friends, family and community to generate many presentations. The time commitment would be minimal and the rewards immeasurable!

Presenters will:

- Be available from 8:30 - 11:00 AM
- Prepare a presentation (ie poster, demonstration, hands on experience, samples, discussion/education, power point, etc.)
- Have an exciting day with the East Brook students!

If you are interested in being a participant, please send your name, career, and email address to tbnelson@yahoo.com by Monday, December 9th. Thank you!
